Memories Are Made of This

Will it ever be finished?

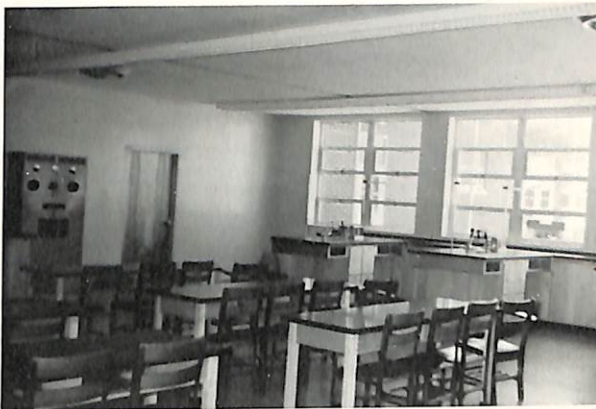

A good place to browse.

Wholesome, nourishing lunches are served in this line.

Posed for sure.

Budding young scientists can create.

A pleasant room in which to read and study.

Let's have a jam session.

The long trek in three minutes.

A new view of C.H.S.

Education Is the the

Under the watchful eyes of Miss Josserand; students learn typing and other commercial arts.

Juniors and Seniors alike study bookkeeping under the direction of Mr. Marsh.

Library science provides the knowledge of the Dewey Decimal System, and the cataloging of books with the help of Mrs. Birch, Librarian.

Mr. Despain supervising his shop boys.

Investment for Future

"Say cheese!" Mrs. Thatcher's Physical Education class learns to tumble.

Mr. Dayton points out a section of the United States to some students.

Mr. Birch explains the converging lens by the use of the optical disc.

"Dinner everyone!" Mrs. Dayton's sixth period Home Ec. Class in action.

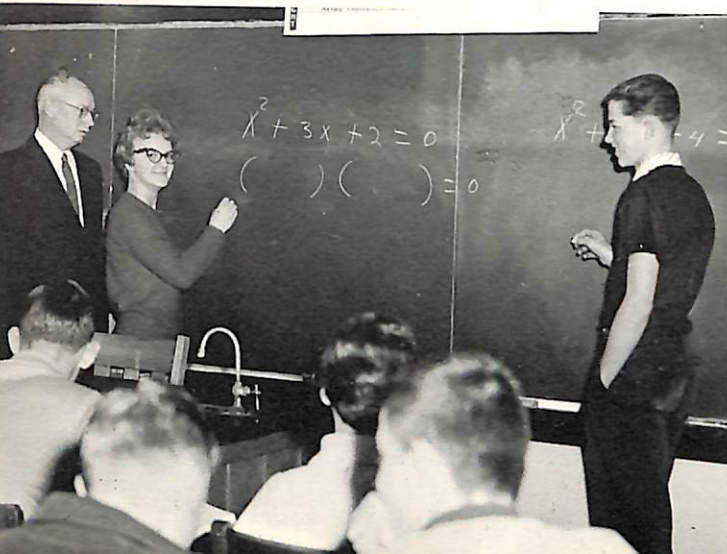

Skills in Mechanical Drawing taught under the instructions of Mr. Despain. This year it is a new class that has proved interesting to those taking it.

With Mr. Wagsraff as teacher, senior students learn the use of good grammar and punctuation along with interesting facts and stories of literature.

Mr. Birch has algebra students work problems on the board. This is a class in which a clear, logical, thorough development of the algebraic material is presented as a natural outgrowth of the student's experiences in arithmetic.

Football

We spent many hours after school running, exercising, and practicing to get in shape for the pigskin parade. Due to injuries and a little bad luck we didn't reach the goal we had hoped to attain. Our season ended with four wins and two losses. Three members of our Team were honored with All-District Awards and two with Honorable Mention.

Administration

As we look back on a year, almost always we wonder where the time has gone; we wonder what we have done with it. Sometimes we may feel that we have done something really worth while, but more often we feel we have done very little. Spectacular things are not necessarily expected of us--only consistent performance. If we have moved forward as best we could, if we have been mindful of others, if we have given our best, then we need not be discouraged.

Accomplishments consist of many things besides the tangibles that we accumulate. As we grow older and more thoughtful our sense of real values sometimes change. Such things as loyalty, service, honesty, honor, virtue, kindness, consideration, friendship, and work are of real value.

May the students of the Cokeville High School be appreciative of their opportunities and along with that which they acquire from books apply also the above mentioned virtues.

Graduation Marks the Commencement To a New Way of Life.

When the books close,
and the last bell rings,
And carefree days are lost to mundane things--
When nostalgia strikes,

And you remember the faces but not the names--
Pick up your yearbook
and leaf it through,
And remember the days
so dear to you.
