Foreword

Remembering our school year 1936-'37, its struggles and triumphs, we thoughtfully count the scars and laurels we received in our endeavors to achieve success. We have learned that the best preparation for good work tomorrow is to do good work today.

That we may more fully appreciate our school year, and cherish those things which our teachers spent so many hours to impart; that we may recall fond memories of our classmates, organizations, and activities is the purpose of this annual.

Dedication

Because they have shown an invaluable and enthusiastic support for all the activities of our school, and especially because they have each year so generously made possible our publications and shown a gratifying pride and interest in our accomplishments, we wish, as a gesture of our sincere appreciation, to dedicate this book to our loyal supporters, the Business Men of Star Valley.

Superintendent's Message

The school year 1936-'37 has been a source of joy and pleasure to me. I have never been associated with a more progressive, or a finer group of instructors and boys and girls. From so many standpoints the term has been a most successful one. The Star Valley High School has been guided by a very capable and enthusiastic corps of teachers and it is my privilege to congratulate them, and their very capable principal for the advancement that has been made.

The Valley has never boasted of a larger or a more intellectual group of students. To you boys and girls, I want to express my thanks and gratitude for your fine spirit of cooperation and enthusiasm. I realize it is through your help that we have been able to accomplish so many worthwhile projects.

To the parents: We know you are the back bone of our every move. You have been most liberal in your support. In behalf of our teachers and students, may I take this opportunity to express our sincere appreciation and thanks to you for the many times you have so unfailingly given of your time, effort, and financial assistance.

O. J. HOLDAWAY

Principal's Message

At the close of this school year we might pause and ask ourselves this question: How has the school contributed most to my development, and what has most characterized this school year?

I feel that this year has been an outstanding success. We have enjoyed a greatly enriched program of both curricular and extra-curricular activities. Perhaps the outstanding characteristic of the school has been the fine spirit of fellowship and cooperation shown between students and teachers. All have worked with but one thought in mind, and that has been to build a greater Star Valley High School in which rich, satisfying experiences can be enjoyed by all members of the student body.

I trust that we have all learned to appreciate each other to a greater extent, and that we will live a more abundant life because of our associations during this year.

As leaders of the student body, we feel that there have been great advancements made, and that various activities have been initiated this year which will be the foundation for future school policies.

At this time we wish to commend all members of the student body for your splendid support. Without your cooperation nothing could have been accomplished. To you loyal students goes the credit for any achievements and honors.

Senior Class Officers

It is with regret rather than joy that we seniors depart from dear old Star Valley High School. Our commencement this spring means we are about to begin a new life—that is, the lives of men and women. Our superior training in this school will be shown in many ways. It is to be remembered by every senior that he has graduated from a standard high school of the state of Wyoming; it is also to be remembered that this year the educational standards of the Wyoming schools were rated higher than those of any state in the union. We should have, then, acquired a splendid education, and we hope that we may be able to use it to a good advantage.

During the past four years we have acquired many friends. We have also acquired what may later be called memories. The purpose of this yearbook is to preserve these memories so that we may be reminded of four of the happiest years of our lives. It is our sincere hope that these memories will more firmly cement the friendships, which might otherwise drift apart in the lapse of a few years.

As we leave our dear old school, we hope we can say that we have left it greater than we found it, and we hope that future classes can do the same.

Junior Class Officers

The junior class of 1936-'37, eighty-eight strong, feel that the past year has been most successful, and the day for promotion is at hand. We now regret that we have but one more year to spend in good old S. V. H. S., but we are all anxiously anticipating a glorious finish. Our aims are to strive hard, to play the game fairly, and to maintain high ideals.

In all the school activities such as dramatics, athletics, school organizations, the paper staff, and the yearbook staff, the juniors have done their share and more.

We extend our most sincere wishes for those who take our place as juniors and wish to thank the seniors for their cooperation and encouragement.

As we near the second milestone in our high school education, we can look back with great satisfaction, and ahead with greater ambitions and higher hopes for the future. With our heads high we are on the road to greater achievements and higher honors.

We not only feel that we, as a class, have completed one of the greatest chapters in our lives, but we also feel the old S. V. H. S. has completed the most successful year in the history of the school.

To the student body officers we, the sophomore class of '36 and '37, extend our sincere congratulations for their splendid leadership and sound judgment.

Freshmen Class

We, the freshman class of 1936-'37, have put forth our whole-hearted efforts to make this class the best ever.

We have been branded as green by those who should know; but green things grow and we have possibilities to develop into the strongest, peppiest, and wisest class in the history of Star Valley High School.

The upper classmen have been our big brothers and sisters, teasing us, but extending a helping hand whenever needed.

To the faculty we extend our appreciation for their patience in trying to teach young dogs old tricks; to the seniors we extend a wish for their success in whatever they do in the big cold world; to the juniors and sophomores we say, "We'll be seeing you next year."

Dear Jack,
 You're a big tease
 but you've made a homesick teacher
 smile when a smile
 was exactly what she needed. Invite me to your wedding
 and I'll give you away. In spite of all your efforts, I'm still single and happy. As a cupid
 you're not so successful, but as a friend and
 pal you're "tops".
 I wish you all the
 success in the world
 and hope you have to teach study hall
 next year!
 I'll see you later
 A. Sharpie.

The road is leading onward;
 We will follow through the years.
 The road is leading forward;
 Through laughter, strife, and tears.
 The road is leading far away,
 But our thoughts are turning still
 To the school in dear Star Valley.
 We know they always will.
 We can't forget our school days,
 Nor teachers, friends, and joys,
 Nor the cheery old rock schoolhouse
 Filled with happy girls and boys.
 We have caught these happy memories
 In the confines of this book;
 So let's flip the pages over
 While we take another look.

—ALICE SHARP

May you always have success and happiness
