FOREWORD

For the papooses, braves, warriors, and chiefs of tribe S.V.H.S., we present this edition of the StaVaHi. May it help us to remember for many moons the council fires, feasts of victory, proof of our skill against the skill of other tribes, and the days when together we were being taught "scouting" for knowledge, "tracking" down the good things in life, and "shooting" at high goals.

Dedication

In behalf of the student body, we take great pleasure in dedicating this volume of the StaVaHi to O. J. Holdaway, our principal, who has governed this pulsating tide of high school life for nine years.

For his friendship toward all, for his deep understanding, guidance and excellent advice on student problems, and for his executive ability in guiding the high school successfully during these years, we present this book to our straight shooting chief . . .

Senior Message

We, the chiefs of the S.V.H.S., are assembled for the last Pow Wow and War Dance. Now that we are going out to fight our final battles, we feel sure that the instructions of the Medicine Men will help carry us swiftly across the plains and into the fields of battle.

We leave our weapons to the Junior Warriors.

We leave our courage and determination to the Sophomore Braves.

And last, we leave our war feathers to the Freshmen papooses and hope they will wear them proudly through the years.

Sophomore Message

We, the Braves, have had some heap bad medicine to obtain our place in the tribe, but we find that it's a feather in our bonnet to take the blows fighting. We have had a hard battle, but we have fought courageously.

As we come to the close of another big Pow-Wow, the Braves of the S.V.H.S. tribe pass on their tomahawks to the Papooses to help them fight their way to distinction. We honor our chieftains, and are working to take their place in the big tepee when they ride for the last time to the Happy Hunting Grounds.
